Aimed at nurturing a connection with nature, this intimate garden is designed as a tranquil retreat within a built environment.

Amidst a tapestry of lush greenery and vibrant blossoms, the gentle light of day filters through the wood screen symbolising traditional Japanese culture. The gentle murmur of cascading water provides a sanctuary for the senses and an invitation to be immersed in the beauty of the natural world.

As daylight retreats and the moon casts its luminescent glow, the garden house, nestled in this oasis, beckons and evokes a sense of nostalgia and peace.

LANDSCAPE GARDEN

L02 - NATURE'S NEST

Designers

Eliam Eng & Andy Eng (Singapore)

Implementing Partner

Nyee Phoe Flower Garden Pte Ltd

Concept

Nature's Nest celebrates the intricate tapestry of nature and community in the tropics, weaving together elements of human habitat evolution with lush greenery and the vibrant biodiversity of Mother Nature.

At the heart of our design lies a modern interpretation of the human habitat, tracing its evolution from the primitive caves of our ancestors to the contemporary structures of today. As visitors progress through the garden, they are greeted with modern ponds symbolising the vital role of water in both nature and human survival. Decks and lush greenery surround these ponds, representing the power of nature in shaping the world around us. Each element of the garden is carefully curated to evoke a sense of awe and wonder, encouraging visitors to pause and reflect on the beauty and resilience of the natural world.

Nature's Nest serves as a reminder and a beacon of hope and inspiration for future generations. As we continue our efforts to restore and preserve the environment, let us remember the lessons of the past and strive towards a more sustainable and harmonious future.

L03 - ECOSYSTEM GARDENING

Designers

Grant Associates - Chin-Jung Chen
(United Kingdom) & Libby Tandian
(Singapore)

Implementing Partner

Mao Sheng Quanji Construction Pte Ltd

Concept

In the tropics, countless species coexist harmoniously, weaving the intricate tapestry of life. Conversely, urban environments imbue planting with a social significance, linking us to collective memories. Our design celebrates the tropics' richness while expressing gratitude for nature's gifts. It aims to showcase a harmonious blend of cultivated spaces and the surrounding natural environment, fostering coexistence through Ecosystem Gardening principles.

With multi-layered planting and structures, our layout offers diverse habitats for forest creatures and spaces for social interaction and communion with nature. The garden tells the story of "Give Hope", inspiring a step change in re-greening our planet. It encourages individuals to become ecosystem gardeners by intensifying and diversifying their gardens; to take small, actionable steps towards creating more sustainable and ecologically vibrant gardens, ultimately contributing to the larger goal of conserving biodiversity and fostering healthier, more resilient ecosystems—one plant at a time.

LANDSCAPE GARDEN

L04 - COLLECTING A MOMENT

Designers

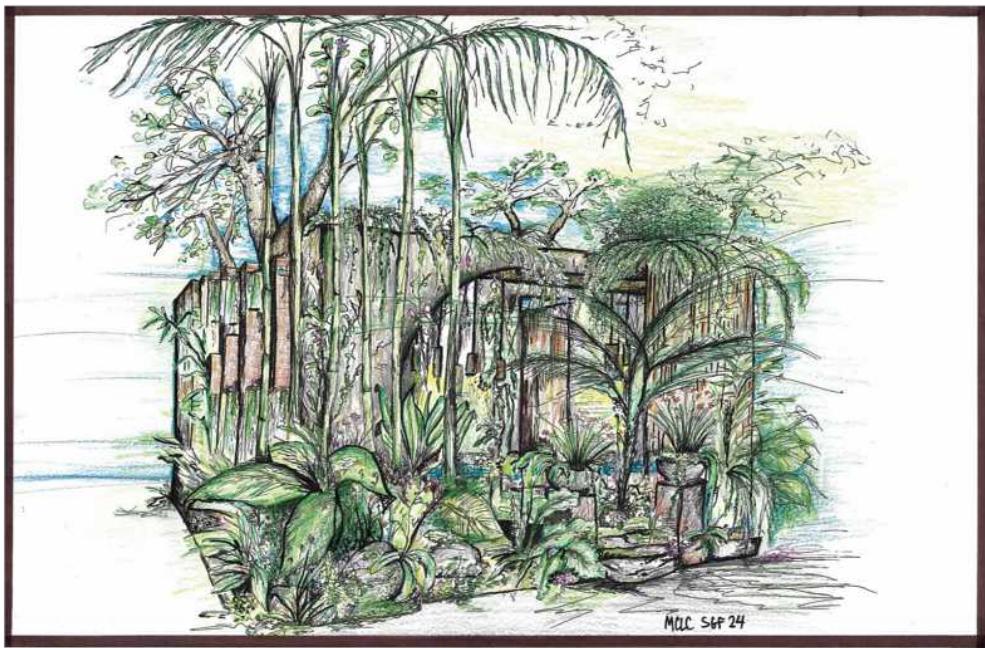

Mark Cook & Emily Cook
(United States of America)

Implementing Partner

Ban Nee Chen Pte Ltd

Concept

Consciousness stills as echoes of constant thought are silenced while approaching the protective walls of this tranquil retreat. Evoking search, the inviting archway reaches across linear pools reflecting the immersive landscape and captivating atmosphere. Tucked within the cascading foliage, a serene garden, adorned with dappled shade and a moss-covered floor, entices a tiptoe across the cool water's surface. Moving through the outstretched leaves and amidst the fragrances nearby, the sought-after sanctuary offers respite from the relentless passage of time.

L05 - ENGARDENING

Designer

Ann Teo (Singapore)

Implementing Partner

Teck Heng Landscape & Construction Pte Ltd

Concept

Reimagine the tropical garden in the heritage landscape of our communities.

This display presents the tangible experience of communal gardens and the alluring dream of edible landscape within the vicinity of our tropical neighbourhoods.

This garden is a vibrant homage to the timeless allure of living gardens. Here, each step is a journey through verdant foliage, dazzling hues and the tantalising sight of ripened fruits and vegetables. Each ornamental or edible plant, whether native or naturalised, contributes to a vibrant tapestry of the reimagination of flavours and textures, transcending their utilitarian purpose to become expressions of form, beauty and hope.

This microcosm of reimagined landscape becomes a space where communities can gather and engage in activities that lift their souls—practising yoga, playing musical instruments, or being captivated by bird songs. We reimagine the living garden becoming a living stage where performances are scheduled to engage with visitors.

LANDSCAPE GARDEN

L06 - THE GREEN PAVILION

Designer

Alan Rudden (Ireland)

Implementing Partner

Landscape Engineering Pte Ltd

Concept

This display aims to create a serene and aesthetically pleasing garden that is both functional and enjoyable—an architectural space that maintains a strong connection to nature.

The garden is centered around a contemporary pavilion, nestled within a lush, verdant planting scheme. It is a harmonious blend of green foliage and structural form. The seating area is sheltered under a roof canopy and situated on a central terrace, which, through the use of mirrors, creates the illusion of floating above the garden. The roof and tall walls are adorned with abundant plant life. The ambience is enriched by the sound of flowing water, while a wall-mounted sunburst sculpture adds depth and intrigue to the backdrop.

The planting selection is deliberately restrained, featuring predominantly green foliage. The materials palette is minimalist, incorporating polished concrete, emerald tiles and steel details. Effective rainwater management is achieved through a connection between the roof and pool. The artful use of lighting plays a key role in creating atmosphere and depth, transforming a compact space into a sanctuary for rest and contemplation.

BALCONY GARDEN

B01 - SLICE OF THE FOREST

Designer

Thinesh S/O Selgum
Amozonia Landscape Pte Ltd

Concept

Tropical plants from different parts of the world bring the peaceful beauty of the outdoors inside, providing users with an immersive natural retreat. This design celebrates Singapore's diverse biodiversity by showcasing a range of native plants from different forest layers.

The canopy layer includes tropical epiphytes, while the understory layer features lush ferns, orchids and shrubs. Ground cover plants and mosses represent the forest floor, creating a multi-dimensional, layered effect. Strategically positioned planters, vertical gardens and water elements enhance this forest environment. Rustic elements such as wooden furniture, stone wall and a small water feature add to the tranquil ambience, promoting relaxation and a profound connection to nature indoors.

B02 - REJUVENATED ROOTS: REDISCOVERING BOTANICAL BOUNTY

Designer

Vincent Chia, PBM
Tropic Planners & Landscape Pte Ltd

Concept

A beautifully crafted sanctuary where nature and memories blend harmoniously. A space adorned with rare botanical collections, lush greenery and the soothing sound of water, creating a serene haven. Through carefully chosen decor and cherished mementos, the ambience exudes warmth and comfort. Tropical plants add an exotic vibrancy, transforming the home into a vibrant sanctuary. Overall, the seamless integration of nature and treasured moments fosters a welcoming atmosphere filled with tranquillity and the enduring bonds of shared experiences.

B03 - RURAL REVIVAL

Designers

Dorin Sim Xue Feng &
Tan Jie Min
Esmond Landscape &
Horticultural Pte Ltd

Concept

This garden intertwines the past and present to create a seamless fusion of vintage charm and modern functionality.

The incorporation of pea sprouts cascading onto a repurposed Mahogany wood table, crafted from a fallen tree, introduces both greenery and functionality. Repurposing a disused wine barrel as planter adds a rustic allure, while the herbs and spices offer both aromatic appeal and fresh ingredients for cooking. The pairing of ornamental plants with weathered truck deck wood establishes a visually captivating space where its history of heavy use adds character, while the greenery brings tranquillity. The use of full-spectrum grow lights ensures optimal plant growth in an urban setting.

Meanwhile, nostalgic elements such as hanging bullock cart wheels and antique weighing scales are complemented by the unexpected twist of the organic mushroom wall. The juxtaposition of old and new, rustic and modern, creates a dynamic and welcoming space that celebrates sustainability and creativity, demonstrating how discarded items can find new purpose in a contemporary setting.

B04 - THE NATURALIST, THE HISTORIAN, HIS WIFE AND HER BEST FRIEND

Designer

Tan Jing Xiang
Earthscape Concepts Pte Ltd

Concept

In this region, there are no distinct seasons such as spring, autumn or winter—only perpetual summer rain and heat. Nevertheless, the tropical environment is interwoven with a diverse array of living beings, both large and small.

Singapore, a tropical City in Nature, is endowed with a rich cultural heritage, shaped by the confluence of many traditions, people and their beliefs—a melting pot of nature and culture blending and coexisting.

Here is the balcony garden of four cosmopolitan friends who are collectors in their own way. The garden reflects the curiosity of a naturalist towards all living things, the cultural artifacts of a historian, the feminine touch of his wife, and her best friend who occasionally sends her flowers, which she tastefully incorporates into the garden.

In the hustle and bustle of our lives, we often overlook the beauty in the little things. This garden invites you to observe and appreciate its nuances, providing a glimpse into the lives of these four friends.

BALCONY GARDEN

B05 - MILESTONE

Designer

Janice Tham

Man-made structures are interwoven to create a continuous path that leads to diverse shared experiences. By incorporating biophilic design principles and natural elements like landforms and water, we beautifully encapsulate the essence and significance of providing homeowners with a fresh perspective on horticulture and art design.

Our guiding principle of "do what you love, love what you do" captures the spirit of our passion and commitment.

B06 - THE BALCONY OF TRANQUIL HAVEN

Designer

Zul Azmi
Limelite Productions Pte Ltd

Concept

In the heart of the city, high above the bustling neighborhood, lies your balcony garden. It is a hidden haven that promises serenity, blending the natural with the magical, where reality and fantasy intertwine seamlessly.

This balcony is home to unique features such as a fernery, tropical plants, salvaged furniture, handcrafted rock works and leaf-imprinted flooring, all interwoven to form a verdant sanctuary.

An intricately handcrafted tree, reminiscent of ancient times, houses a variety of fern species. It symbolises resilience, prosperity and magical protection in accordance with folklore and mythology.

The salvaged furniture, set against a lush and verdant backdrop, embodies the message of sustainability, preservation and fantasy. The flooring imprinted with leaves stimulates both visual and tactile senses, encouraging an appreciation for aesthetics. More than a balcony, this is a personal retreat, a slice of paradise where time slows down and worries dissipate.

■ FLORAL TABLE-TOP

T01 - 8:00 PM

Designer

Chen Nina

Concept

When I was younger, our family used to have meals together at around 8:00 pm almost every evening. Nowadays, my parents and children have different schedules, and we often have many meals separately. To compound the issue, mobile apps consume most of our attention even when we are together. There is nothing more important than sharing a meal with family, enjoying music, food, smiles, flowers and each other's company at 8:00 pm.

T02 - WILD SYMPHONY: NATURE'S EVERLASTING OVERTURE

Designer

Denmy Lam

Concept

In the heart of the untamed forest, branches stretch toward the sky, a dance of nature unrestrained. Before the tempest's fury, a serene hush blankets the woodland, a moment pregnant with anticipation. Then the heavens open, unleashing a torrent of rain, transforming tranquility into chaos as nature's wild essence is unleashed. Yet, as swiftly as the storm arrives, it retreats—leaving behind a serene canvas bathed in sunlight. Amongst the chaos, delicate green shoots emerge, heralding the renewal of life, a testament to the enduring resilience of nature's beauty amidst the ever-changing tapestry of existence.

T03 - POLLOCK IN PARTS

Designer

Tan Zie Zou, Jessica

Concept

This display is an exploration of the relationship between the whole and its parts.

It draws inspiration from Jackson Pollock's abstract expressionism, and delves into Gestalt theory to examine how the dynamics shift when the scale of each part is increased. Gestalt theory, originating in psychology in the early 20th century, emphasises the importance of considering the whole entity or configuration rather than just its individual parts. It suggests that our perception organises sensory information into meaningful patterns or wholes, rather than simply perceiving isolated elements.

T04 - “KOPI TOH”: THE COFFEE CONNECTION

Designer

Desmond Toh

Concept

“KOPI” is Malay for coffee, and “TOH” refers to table in the Hokkien dialect. Kopi Toh delves into how our coffee culture enriches our perception of life and our relationships with people.

Here, we design a playful dining experience that rekindles a fresh connection with our heritage. Taking the cue from retro floor tiles and vintage metal shutters, Kopi Toh recreates a cozy and bold dining space with a modern Nanyang vibe.

An abundance of red botanicals, accented with pops of cobalt blue and glossy green, is naturally interwoven within the contemporary geometrical structure of Kopi Toh, creating a funky gardenscape that incorporates local coffee culture into our present dining space.

Come sip some black coffee and pandan-flavoured cocktails in the beauty and tranquility of our Nanyang-inspired setting.

FLORAL TABLE-TOP

T05 - HUES OF COSMOS

Designer

Vania Evelyn

Concept

This installation aims to create an effervescence of uplifted mood and vibrancy. Each petal radiates with vibrant hues, infusing the space with boundless energy.

Silver elements, reminiscent of the cosmos, orbit gracefully within the arrangement, casting a celestial glow. They represent aspirations, dreams and a sense of wonder. The juxtaposition of earthly cool greens and bright blooms against these silver orbs creates a harmonious fusion between what is real in front of you and a realm of future possibilities.

This floral masterpiece does not just adorn a space; it transforms it into a whole experience—a sanctuary of delight. It is a testament to the beauty of uplifted moods and the limitless power of imagination.

GENERAL DISPLAYS

SGC01 - SGC05 SINGAPORE GARDENERS' CUP

Now into its seventh edition, the Singapore Gardeners' Cup provides a platform for local community gardening groups to co-create thematic garden displays. Forty gardening groups from the Central, North East, North West, South East, and South West districts in Singapore, in partnership with staff from the National Parks Board (NParks), landscape architects and implementing partners, have come together to create a garden display for each district.

This year's theme, "Botanical Fun", showcases a variety of tropical plants with a focus on sustainability and invites community groups to reimagine green spaces as part of NParks' efforts to transform Singapore into a City in Nature.

Meet our community gardeners to learn more about sustainable gardening practices and find inspiration for growing your own plants!

LDC01 - LDC10 LANDSCAPE DESIGN CHALLENGE

Landscape Design Challenge (LDC) showcases the horticultural, creative landscape design, plant selection, and construction skills of students from our local Institutes of Higher Learning. This year, students from Institute of Technical Education (East), Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts, National University of Singapore, Ngee Ann Polytechnic, Republic Polytechnic and Singapore Polytechnic are participating in LDC. These students were challenged to implement landscape displays that resonate with our competition theme "Celebrating Tropical Nature" within a 4-hour competition time limit. Come and enjoy these imaginative and creative landscape displays by our talented students!

G01 - THE TROPICAL OASIS

By Singapore Botanic Gardens

This botanical display by the Singapore Botanic Gardens celebrates the spirit of community and beauty of nature in the tropics. Be enthralled by the lush foliage and spectacular flowers, as well as the diverse communities living in the Tropical Rainforest. Discover native birds such as the Oriental Hornbill and Crested Serpent Eagle roosting high up in the dense canopy of the Lowland Forest. Look out for Smooth-coated Otters cooling off in the slow-flowing streams meandering between the majestic forest trees and palms in the serene Freshwater Swamp Forest.

At the heart of these forest habitats, the front yard of a tropical treehouse features lush ornamental plants and edibles. The elements of natural forest habitats and community gardens are intertwined in the display to symbolise the fostering of a harmonious relationship between the nature and community.

G02 - SINGAPORE GARDENING SOCIETY

The Singapore Gardening Society and National Parks Board welcome visitors to step into the Hall of Fame. Over the last nine decades, the Singapore Botanic Gardens and local breeders have produced many fine and significant orchid hybrids, some of which have helped to put Singapore on the world map. Nestled amidst a verdant backdrop, this display showcases some of Singapore's most significant heritage orchids. These include orchids associated with the Gardens and Singapore Gardening Society. Keep a lookout for the interpretive signs that will help in spotting the key orchid hybrids on the lush columns, as well as the wide array of epiphytes adorning the garden arches!

G03 - BUKIT BULU

By This Humid House Pte. Ltd.

Bukit Bulu playfully evokes a topography of low hills on a table using tropical ingredients with furry textures. Inspired by the warm, earthen colours of Lutzerne's WoodFire collection, we designed a low, decagonal table at coffee table height, paired with batik-upholstered legless chair backs, to sit diners low as is the tradition in many Asian cultures. This setting showcases a sprawling, fecund display of tropical flora in shiny brass vessels, deliberately kept low to maintain sightlines between diners. The gestural composition of the tabletop arrangement engages in vivid conversation with the playful batik print. Eschewing greens entirely, the fiery red and orange hues of Heliconia vellerigera and Marigold blaze through a thicket of dried palm inflorescence, glowing brightly in the absence of foliage.
